Subject: [LAWCTR-ALRT-L] Constitution Day Lecture - September 18

Dear Law Center Students, Faculty & Staff:

The Voegelin Institute (from LSU's College of Humanities and Social Sciences) and the Pugh Institute for Justice (here at the Law Center) are co-sponsoring a Constitution Day Lecture on Zoom on Friday, September 18, at 3:00 pm. Our featured speaker is Prof. Randall Kennedy of Harvard Law School, who has chosen the topic, "Our Fifteenth Amendment and Its Discontents." Commenting on his talk will be Prof. Nathan Kalmoe of the Manship School and Prof. Chris Tyson of the Law Center.

It's open to the public, by registering at www.lsu.edu/voegelin.

Here's the poster: <https://sites01.lsu.edu/faculty/voegelin/wp-content/uploads/sites/80/2020/09/Poster-for-RKennedy-lo-res.pdf>

I pass along to our community the special thanks of Dr. Jim Stoner of the Voegelin Institute to Professor Ray Diamond, who has helped with arrangements, and to Christina Hood, who helped schedule a mutually agreeable date and time.
